PRESENTATION DESCRIPTION: (INSTRUCTIONAL LEVEL: INTERMEDIATE)

In this presentation, Dr. Linda Sherby joins with The Black Swan's main character, ballerina Nina Sayers, and enters the world of the phantasmal. In so doing, she presents a unique opportunity to simultaneously analyze a complex movie, better understand the world of psychosis, and look into the inner workings of a therapist's mind. She does this by taking on the fictional role of Nina's therapist and presents the movie as if it were unfolding in narrative form in her office.

By becoming this pretend therapist, Dr. Sherby is able to examine the schizophrenic's confusion between reality and fantasy, as well as the psychotic's tremendous difficulty in holding ambivalence, exemplified by the split between the black and white swan. The frightening, toxic inner world of the schizophrenic is also painfully apparent in both the movie and the presentation.

This fictionalized therapeutic role, also allows Dr. Sherby to present an ongoing commentary about her thoughts and feelings as she works with this most difficult patient.
